

Atomic Blast Seen At Close Range By 1500 Dug-In Troops

By BILL BECKER
ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev.—(AP)—One of the most spectacular atomic bombs ever detonated jolted observers 10 miles distant today and gave 1,500 troops an experience they will never forget.

It probably was the largest bomb ever dropped on continental United States soil. The smoke blotted out the troops who were within four miles on ground zero.

The bomb burst 42 seconds after release from an Air Force plane flying at 30,000 feet in a typical high level drop.

Visible 75 Miles
Despite brilliant sunshine, the flash was visible 75 miles away in Las Vegas. Seven minutes later, the southern Nevada gambling capital rumbled with the concussion.

The shock twisted this observer's neck one minute after the flash. The fireball lasted somewhere from four to 10 seconds.

The bomb formed a big mushroom before the concussion hit ground zero and raised the familiar dirty dust column.

The heat from the blast singed observers' faces at News Nob. Most wished they were in foxholes like the troops.

The mushroom went through a series of colors, rust, yellow, violet, and then turned snow white. Finally, above 35,000 feet an ice cap formed and separated from the main ball-shaped cloud.

Trucks moved in almost immediately to pick up the troops before the radioactive dust could hit them. Several secondary fires started, veteran observers said. These were indicated by darker smoke appearing through the dust base 2½ miles wide.

The base dust column was twisted across the sky, blotting out the peaks 20 miles away. It was a mile across. Instrumentation planes droned overhead, tracking radiation.

Necks Twisted
About 15 minutes after the blast, the troops' air support—120 paratroopers—were taxied across the edge of the salt flats to be ready for a takeoff.

Their job was to jump behind the atomic smoke curtain but at a safe time after it lifted.

The troops got a very severe shock, the AEC told newsmen. They were braced in their 4½ foot deep foxholes, but there could be no doubt that some of their necks were twisted, too.

Showers Sharpen Flood Fear Along Raging Missouri

By LARRY HALL
KANSAS CITY — (AP)—New rain, some of it heavy, sharpened the fears of flood fighters along the raging Missouri river today.

Major dikes held at critical spots. And the experts clung to their prediction that Kansas City, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo., would be safe. They saw little danger the twin cities would have to take the beating they got in last July's record flood.

Worst Over at LaCrosse
As the muddy sea broadened in the lowlands, Missouri Gov. Forrest Smith proclaimed a flood emergency and asked President Truman—for the second time in a year—to allot emergency federal funds to his home state.

Along the upper Mississippi, another record flood boiled seaward.

At La Crosse, Wis., weatherman A. D. Sanial said "the worst of it is over now." A little rain fell there but not enough to affect the river.

Downstream along the eastern Iowa border, expected flood crests were revised downward for the second time but Gov. William S. Beardsley ordered three more National Guard units to flood duty anyway.

At Lansing, Ia., in the extreme northeastern corner of the state, the peak is set for 18.1—a record—but 7 foot lower than predicted earlier.

The focus of the rainfall jitters was at Kansas City, where

Passport Denial Tested In Court

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The State Department's broad authority to deny or revoke passports was challenged in federal court today and a three-judge panel agreed to hear the case.

The American Civil Liberties Union brought the test, urging the creation of standards for issuing and denying passports and machinery for hearings and reviews. It also called on Congress to make the issuance of a passport mandatory to an applicant except for specific reason.

The State Department, in denying or revoking a passport, customarily merely states that authorized foreign travel by the individual in question would not be "in the best interest of the United States."

The test case involves the department's cancellation of the passport of Miss Anne Bauer, a naturalized American citizen who had been working in France as a free lance writer. The Civil Liberties Union complained that she was given no hearing and was arbitrarily deprived of her means of livelihood and her constitutional rights. She came to this country from Germany in 1938.

Newsman Given Free Hand To Cover Mutiny

JACKSON, Mich.—(AP)—Warden Julian Frisbie gives newsmen every possible liberty in their attempts to cover the violent and destructive mutiny at Southern Michigan prison. And the result has added to the already frayed nerves of the gray-haired prison official.

From time to time, he had to order reporters, photographers and radio men away from the deceptively silent Cellblock 15, which houses the 179 most hardened criminals and their 11 guard-holders.

More than 50 newsmen have been on the scene almost constantly, talking to prisoners and taking pictures.

Leonard Gets Scare
Last night, Frisbie finally gave the order to permit no one but authorized prison authorities in the area.

One pair gave State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard the scare of his life.

Leonard had just organized a force of 40 state troopers for a rush on Cellblock 11, housing a group of unpredictable mental cases. Just as he was about to open a door and send his force against the cellblock, he saw a reporter and a photographer wandering among the inmates asking questions and snapping pictures.

Leonard delayed the assault long enough to lecture both.

"You're just plain foolish—and damn lucky," he said.

Reporters Snatch Sleep
Newsmen, meanwhile, were glad of the lull that set in overnight. Many slept on the couches that furnish the lobby and offices of the prison administration building. Others, working in pairs, moved into Jackson hotels for sleep when their relief reported.

Some caught naps in their cars parked in front of the prison. Whatever sleep was had was well-earned. Many had been on constant duty as long as 20 hours in the hectic time since the riot broke out Sunday night.

Circuit Judges Delay Move On Michigan Reds

DETROIT — (AP)—Circuit court judges asked for more time today to study a petition by Attorney General Frank Millard for a grand jury investigation of Communism in Michigan.

In a closed session yesterday lasting a half hour 17 out of the 18 Wayne circuit judges voted to take the petition under advisement. No date was set for the judges to report on their findings.

Presiding Judge Ira W. Jayne said:

"More time is needed so that each judge may study the allegations in the petition and affidavits to determine for themselves whether they favor such a grand jury or not."

Millard requested the grand jury in reporting there is reason to believe certain persons in the state may have knowledge of treasonable acts and have concealed their knowledge, and that others have conspired to overthrow the government by illegal means including sabotage and terrorism.

Thus far only two persons have been registered under the state's new Communist control law. State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard reported the registrations but did not reveal the names, saying the new Trucks Act "indicates secrecy."

Wanger Guilty, Gets 4 Months

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—(AP)—Movie producer Walter Wanger was convicted today of assault with a deadly weapon for shooting his wife's agent. He drew a four months' sentence in the county jail.

Attorney Jerry Giesler offered many letters from movie and religious leaders endorsing Wanger's good citizenship. After hearing these, Judge Harry J. Borde remarked that:

"The law of the six-shooter has gone out of California long ago. It is true that it was not a serious wound," the judge added.

"Apparently there was some great provocation caused by rumor and gossip. But the court's hands are tied. Provocation is not a defense."

Giesler quoted letters of praise from such industry leaders as Samuel Goldwyn, Hal Wallis, Darryl Zanuck and others including Senator William Benton (D-Conn.), Bruce Barton and Fulton Oursler.

Scientists Come Up With Dried Beer

LONDON — (AP)—Science came up today with a new occupational hazard for the man in military uniform—dried beer.

All you add is water to the packet of starch-gum, hop oil and flavoring—there'll be beer galore when and where wanted.

It can be transported easily to the fighting fronts when shipping is at a premium.

But the men of science who perfected such wartime products as powdered eggs and dehydrated milk conceded there's a difference in the taste of this one too.

Damaged Prison Tense; One Dead And 11 Wounded

JACKSON, Mich.—(AP)—A fight broke out today among prison mutineers in the besieged Cell Block No. 15 of riot-torn Southern Michigan penitentiary today.

At the same time Michigan State Police, on guard at the prison, rushed troopers to the reformatory at Ionia on reports of incipient trouble.

Fight Over Hostages

Two of the mutineers were dragged out of Cell Block 15 by fellow inmates. Stretcher bearers took the pair into the prison hospital.

The two men were reported to have engaged in a fight over the treatment of 11 prison guards whom the mutineers have held as hostages since Sunday night.

This was the first incident of violence since yesterday's wild prison riot which caused $2,000,000 damage and led to one convict's death.

Situation Ticklish

Prison officials at the time were preparing with the mutineers to arrange an appeal from them to other inmates to remain calm.

Several hundred state troopers were on guard at the prison but the situation was still ticklish.

State Police headquarters at East Lansing went into action on the Ionia report.

Squads were ordered to the posts at Rockford and East Lansing, the two nearest to Ionia.

This was described as a precautionary move in event of any disorder.

With almost all state police mobilized here at the prison, officials have been concerned that trouble might break out at other penal institutions.

The fight at cell block 15 took place about noon.

Two men, identified as Ellsworth Roberts and James Parmentier, were dragged out the cell block door and left lying there.

Two Stabbed

One of two other men who did the dragging was Earl Ward, a mutineers' ringleader. Ward was seen to brandish a knife.

Both Roberts and Parmentier had been stabbed.

From the stretcher Roberts said that he and Parmentier had fought over the hostages and had been thrown out by other inmates.

Parmentier was babbling incoherently.

He cried, "don't let them take my picture."

At Ionia prisoners smashed windows and warden Garrett Heyns reported conditions were "tense."

Heyns said his 1,300 inmates had indicated uneasiness and that trouble was "possible" though "not expected."

The block 15 fight came only about two hours before the mutineers' scheduled peace appeal

Resolution Filed To Impeach Truman For Steel Seizure

WASHINGTON — (AP)—A resolution asking impeachment of President Truman for seizing the steel mills was introduced in the House today by Rep. Hale (R-Me.).

Along with it, Hale introduced a resolution which would declare the opinion of the House to be that the President violated the constitution and that the steel plants should be returned to private operation.

The impeachment resolution followed the standard form for such procedure. It was referred to the Judiciary Committee, where no action was expected, at least for the time being.

It directs the committee to investigate the seizure and report to the House, "together with such resolution of impeachment or other recommendation as it deems proper."

In a brief speech, Hale said the President's action was "an assault on the constitution of the United States."

Other Republicans joined in the attack on the President.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, the Democratic leader, defended the President and Rep. Crawford (R-Mich.) suggested that the courts be allowed to determine the legality of the seizure.

On the other side of the Capitol, the Senate resumed debate on a Republican-sponsored move to forbid spending government money to carry out the seizure.

Two Senate committees called government and industry men before them for discussion of the seizure.

By a roll call vote of 44 to 31, the Senate late yesterday aimed a slap at Truman's seizure order.

After rounds of bitter debate, it hooked onto a 960-million-dollar appropriation bill an amendment proposed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) forbidding use of any of the money to carry out the order.

His wife, Isobel, was at his bedside.

Ill health forced him to quit his double cabinet job—Chancellor of the Exchequer and Economics Minister—in October, 1950. He improved and went home after six months in the clinic here but last January was forced to return after months of increasingly acute pain, cheerfully borne. He lapsed into a coma over the weekend.

Vulcan Man Killed Walking On Highway

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—Joseph Gazza, 36, of Vulcan, father of three children, was fatally injured at about 4:40 yesterday afternoon, when he was struck by a car driven by Donald Charter, 21, of Niagara, Wis., while walking on Highway U. S. 2 three miles south of here.

Gazza, according to State Police, was walking on the left shoulder of the road when a neighbor, Mike Mastie, of Vulcan, pulled up on the right shoulder to give him a ride. Gazza was struck by the Charter car as he was crossing the highway.

He died before reaching Memorial Hospital here.

Landslide Asked For Eisenhower In Pennsylvania

By JACK BELL
PHILADELPHIA — (AP)—Supporters strove mightily today to manufacture a landslide of votes from both major party tickets for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Pennsylvania's indecisive Presidential primary.

Their long-range objective was to impress state GOP leaders, headed by Gov. John S. Fine, with the desirability of throwing a majority of Pennsylvania's 70 GOP nominating delegates to Eisenhower at the July Chicago convention.

Ringed Doorbells
Democrats, voting in a preference (popularity) primary where there are no names on the ballot, could write in their choice for President. They might select a Republican if they chose.

With the latest weather predictions forecasting no rain in the state until late at night and a total vote of some think close to 1,600,000 likely, Eisenhower backers rang telephones and doorbells to invite Democrats, as well as Republicans, to support the general.

Eisenhower is on the Republican preference ballot, along with former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota. While Stassen is not considered a serious challenger, there may be a substantial write-in vote for Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Taft told his backers here not to bother to vote for him, contending the primary results won't affect the final vote of the convention delegates. In line with this, Taft's eastern manager, John D. M. Hamilton, claimed the Ohioan will have at least 25 of the 70 votes and a "substantial majority" in Fine—still on the fence—eventually goes over to Taft.

Edwin F. Russell, head of the state's Citizens for Eisenhower committee, predicted Eisenhower will have a "two to one margin over the field" in the popularity test. He would not speculate on the division of delegates.

Red Shore Guns Blast U. S. Ships

SEOUL, Korea — (AP)—A report of white-clad Chinese Communist cavalrymen on the central Korean war front puzzled U. S. Eighth Army officers today.

Front line units said they spotted 200 riders in white moving toward Kumsong Monday afternoon. They said heavy artillery ripped the column to pieces.

Two other white-cloaked bands of 50 and 60 men were reported sighted in the area.

U. S. Navy headquarters in Tokyo said five U. S. ships have been sunk by mines and 46 U. S. and 11 British Commonwealth warships have been damaged in the Korean war.

The Navy said all the damaged British ships and 40 of the U. S. vessels were hit by Red shore batteries. Five U. S. ships were damaged by mines and one by an aerial bomb.

The Navy said also that Red shore batteries lately have been firing with increased accuracy and greater range, and have shelled American warships nearly 10 miles at sea.

Navy authorities said this almost certainly means the Reds are using radar-directed heavy guns.

Dying Mother Picks Home For Two Sons

DULUTH, Minn.—(AP)—Long distance telephone lines hummed and every mail brought in offers today to a 44-year-old Duluth mother who wants to place her two small sons in a good home before she dies of cancer.

Mrs. Evelyn Paro, who doctors said has only a few more weeks to live, said today she will choose her sons' foster parents this week while she still has some strength.

The two sons are Gerald 6 and Gordon 9. Mrs. Paro and her husband, a truck driver, were divorced shortly after Gerald was born. She has worked days as a bookkeeper and held a waitress job at night to provide for her boys.

About a month ago Mrs. Paro learned she had an incurable cancer in her stomach. Last Saturday she appealed to the Duluth Herald and News-Tribune for help in finding a home for her sons. Newspaper stories followed.

Today Mrs. Paro had 50 letters from persons wanting Gerald and Gordon, and an uncounted number of telephone calls, most of them from families outside of Duluth. They came from attorneys, farmers, and businessmen.

One man telephoned from Akron, Ohio last night saying: "I just heard about this 20 minutes ago,

Students Plan For Conference On Citizenship

The fourth annual Upper Peninsula high school citizenship conference, sponsored by the University of Michigan will be held on Saturday, May 3rd, at Ishpeming high school. A committee composed of students and faculty members from each of these high schools has been meeting with Charles Folio, Supervisor, Upper Peninsula area, University of Michigan Extension Service, to plan for the conference. The chairman of this committee is Paul Wuorenmaa, of Ishpeming high school, and Karen Violette, of Negaunee high school, is secretary.

High schools from all over the Upper Peninsula have indicated their intention of sending delegates to this conference. It is expected that between 200 and 300 students and faculty advisers will attend.

Special emphasis is being placed this year upon one of the discussion topics which reads as follows: "How can a student council improve relations with other high schools in inter-scholastic sports?" It is planned that from the discussion group which will consider this topic will come an Upper Peninsula Code of Good Sportsmanship. It is hoped that when this code has been completed that high school student councils in the Peninsula will endorse or "ratify" it. It is hoped that student councils will then endeavor to carry out the principles contained in the Upper Peninsula Code of Good Sportsmanship by encouraging their student bodies and the people of their community to adhere to these principles.

Other topics for discussion will be:

How can a student council cope with the problem of the use of alcohol by teenagers?

What part does a student council play in youth center activities?

What powers, duties, and responsibilities should be invested in the student council?

What types of activities are carried on by the student council in a small school?

How can a student council get increased student participation in school activities?

How should a student council be organized?

The following high schools have been requested to furnish discussion leaders for the group discussions:

Bergland, Baraga, Calumet, Escanaba, Felch, Houghton, Iron Mountain, Lake Linden, Marquette, Newberry, Ontonagon, Stephenson, St. Joseph's (Escanaba), Wakefield.

Farmer Denies Drunk Driving

Lawrence Deno, 34, Escanaba Rt. 1, identified by police as a farmer, today pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and is at liberty under $50 bond. He was arraigned in Justice Henry Ranguette's court.

Escanaba police reported that Deno's car crashed into an auto driven by Miss Elizabeth Jacobson, 218 Lake Shore Drive, at 6:26 p. m. yesterday in the 1300 block, Washington Ave.

Mrs. Roy Spaulding of 558 North Eighth St., Gladstone, a passenger in the Jacobsen car, suffered injuries which have not yet been fully determined but are not believed to be serious. She is receiving treatment in St. Francis hospital.

Miss Jacobson's car was badly damaged. She was driving south on Washington Ave. and Deno drove into the intersection going west on 14th Ave. N.

Police reported that Deno failed to identify himself as the driver of the car after the accident and also had no operators license on his person.

Dentist, 83, Honored By State Association

DETROIT—(AP)—Michigan's dental profession took off its hat yesterday to Dr. Edward Bartlett Spaulding, still a tooth-fixer at 83.

Dr. Spaulding, who has practiced for 60 years, was honored at a luncheon as the oldest living past president of the Michigan State Dental Association.

Spry and witty, the octogenarian reminisced of his early days and made this comparison of dentistry then and now: "It's a scientific process now; it was a craft 60 years ago."

Dr. Spaulding, a native of Calumet, made a reputation in practice here for his work in porcelain. He also has contributed to dental literature.

Ford Tractor Suit Explained

George Anderson of Autoway Equipment, Inc., Ford Tractor and Dearborn Farm Equipment Dealer, today emphasized three points of interest in connection with the settlement of the lawsuit brought more than four years ago against Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation by Harry Ferguson and Harry Ferguson, Inc. Anderson said:

"1. Ford Motor Company will continue production of the present Ford Tractor without interruption, and Dearborn Motors Corporation will continue to market them nationally as in the past. By the end of 1952, Ford Motor Company has agreed to make two simple changes, and only two changes, in the means of operation and control of a pump used in the hydraulic system in the Ford Tractor. After these simple changes have been made, there is nothing in the settlement of the suit to prevent Ford Motor Company from continuing the manufacture of the present Ford Tractor for as long as it may choose.

"2. Ford Motor Company will continue to produce and Dearborn Motors Corporation, and ourselves as dealers, will continue to supply any and all repair parts for all past, present and future Ford Tractors.

"3. Ford Tractors will continue to offer all the advantages of the present system of hydraulic control, the present method of attaching and operating implements, and all other features responsible for their wide popularity. Dearborn Motors will continue to offer its same complete line of implements.

"It is a source of deep satisfaction to us to be in a position to debunk conclusively and finally in this way the assertions that have been made and the propaganda that has been spread over the past four years."

Protect your family against hospital and medical bills with BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD Plans sponsored by Michigan hospitals and doctors!

If you had to go to the hospital tomorrow... if someone in your family had to go... how would you pay the bill?

The stark, cold facts are that 1 in every 4 Michigan families face hospital bills this year!

Disturbing as these figures may be, the solution to the problem is extremely simple. Several years ago, Michigan hospitals and doctors set up non-profit plans to offer protection to the people of Michigan against the cost of surgical and medical bills.

These are the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plans which in 1951 alone provided more than 376,000 people in Michigan with benefits worth over $7 million dollars.

What BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD Plans Do:

BLUE CROSS Comprehensive Group Hospital Plan covers a broad range of benefits (up to 120 days of care) in any one of 190 Michigan Blue Cross participating hospitals. NO CASH LIMIT on benefits covered.

BLUE SHIELD Medical-Surgical Plan pays generous amounts for stated surgical procedures and provides substantial amounts towards your doctor's hospital visits in non-surgical cases.

Best protection—lowest possible cost! Several Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plans are available. The average cost is about 9 cents per person per day.

New Markets Developed For Smelt As Spawning Runs Start

THE smelt run is under way in Delta county and although the peak may not be reached for perhaps another week, heavy catches in several streams in the eastern end of the county indicate that the 1952 haul may reach record proportions.

More than 1,300,000 pounds of smelt were harvested by commercial fishermen, mainly from Green Bay waters, in January and February. The record 12-month harvest was in 1941 when 3,019,000 pounds were taken. It is possible that this total will be exceeded this year.

The law of supply and demand, of course, regulates the price of smelt as it does the price of other commodities. Even now with the smelt run just getting under way the price dropped to a cent and a half a pound over the weekend and may be even lower now.

New markets are being created for the silvery fish, however. In addition to the expanded market for minck food, smelt is being packaged in Delta county this year as cat food for the first time.

Commercial packaging companies also are attractively processing and packaging frozen smelt for distribution throughout the country. One company alone, the B. A. Griffin Company, plans to buy a million and a half pounds of smelt in the Upper Peninsula.

The great volume of smelt this year is particularly encouraging in view of the still-unexplained disaster of 1942 when smelt all but disappeared from Great Lakes waters. For several years thereafter there was no smelt spawning run of any importance but the little fish began to appear in volume a few years ago and have increased in number each year since. From all appearances they are as abundant now as they were before their sudden disappearance.

U. S. Inconsistency Puzzles Other Countries

THREE events in recent days must have left the people of certain backward and poverty-ridden areas of the world a little puzzled as to what's going on under Uncle Sam's tall gray hat.

President Truman took occasion to praise the work of this country's Point Four program of aid to underprivileged countries.

Point Four, based on the principle of helping others to help themselves—agriculturally, industrially, and educationally—is one of this country's strongest forces in combating the inroads of communism among peoples most susceptible to it.

Much of the work of the program has been concentrated in those countries from the Mediterranean eastward to the Pacific, along Russia's southern border. Reports from these areas indicate the program is having its effect, both from the simple humane standpoint and from the standpoint of winning us friends where we most need them.

And successful giving being somehow the difficult task it is—for even the neediest look often with ill favor upon their benefactor—the reaction to our aid is heartening.

But no sooner had the President spoken in praise of this laudable program than the United States lowered the boom on Tunisia in that North African country's fight for independence from the French.

It happened when this country declined to vote either way on whether the French-Tunisian question should be brought before the United Nations Security Council for discussion.

The Pakistan delegate, president of the Security Council and spokesman for the Asian-African group which sponsored Tunisia's case, said the date would go down in history "as the day when the foundations were laid for the suppression of free discussion in the United Nations."

He said, in a rather touching attempt at American lingo, that America's refusal to take a stand on the matter was "the most unkind cut of all." When the votes were tabulated, he added, an abstention had the same result as voting against having the Security Council discuss the question.

The effect of this is by no means lost on other countries, similar in many ways to Tunisia, where we are trying to get results with our Point Four program.

It's true that for the sake of political and military unity in Europe at this time, the United States must get along with France. But the people of backward countries we are helping—many of which have just achieved self-determination—may well question how at the same time we can in effect back the French colonial policy.

Fortunately for us the balance was tipped somewhat in our favor by a third event which came about without much fanfare or public notice, but which nevertheless means a great deal in the subject under discussion.

The Ford Foundation, in announcing it had made grants totaling over $22,000,000 last year for world betterment, disclosed that $6,550,000 went to improve the standard of living in India, Pakistan, and the Middle East.

That's money from a private source in the United States and it was spent without the encumbrances of diplomatic policy. It should carry some weight in those countries where we need all the weight we can get. Let's hope so.

By DREW PEARSON

PARIS—If Dwight D. Eisenhower is elected President, the time may come when American publishers and newsmen who now berate Truman will look back on the free-and-easy press relations of today with signs of nostalgic longing. For Ike's press relations are going to be a lot different from the present system, under which a newspaperman can throw any question under the sun at Harry Truman and have him bat the ball back most of the time. They will also be a lot different from the present system whereby a White House press conference can be quoted verbatim except for putting quotation marks around the President's actual words.

Ike just isn't going to do it that way. His press relations are pleasant and cordial but are played according to his rules. And his rules so far do not permit questions. Current White House rules whereby you can ask Truman "Have you written any more letters to music critics?" or "Who is your candidate for President?" are out with Ike. Furthermore it looks as if free and open press conferences, such as those conducted by Senator Taft and other candidates, would be out when Ike gets back to the U. S. A. between June 1 and the Chicago convention. There will be some press conferences but not many, and detailed questions had to be submitted in writing 24 hours in advance may be the order of the day under the next Republican President.

BRITISH DON'T WANT BRADLEY
Eisenhower's personal prestige and popularity are so great in Europe that the job of replacing him is much more difficult than is generally appreciated. If it weren't for a little-known event in a muddy Dutch village during the winter of 1944, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, would be the natural choice.

At that time General Bradley had suffered a setback in the Battle of the Bulge following which his First and Ninth armies were transferred to Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery and, with this added American support, Monty hit the German flank through Holland and stopped the Nazis. After the victory Monty's chief of staff phoned Allan Morehead, now press relations officer of the British War Ministry, and said: "Monty wants to hold a press conference. What do you think of the idea?"

"I think it would be a great mistake," Morehead replied. "The Americans will be mortally hurt and no good can come of it. Go back and persuade him not to."

However, Montgomery held the conference just the same. British, Dutch and American journalists were called into the schoolhouse in a Dutch village where Monty, in a red beret and red blouse and with hand grenades strung over his shoulder, told how he had won the Battle of the Bulge.

Of course, the use of Bradley's First and Ninth armies was not mentioned during the interview and Bradley never forgave Monty for this, as was made quite clear in Bradley's recent masterful book in which he told how, prior to the Battle of the Bulge, Montgomery remained rooted alongside the English Channel demanding more troops while American forces chased the Nazis up to the Rhine. That book caused a furor in England and fanned the flames of national jealousy to the point where Bradley couldn't possibly get British cooperation in the NATO army.

KREMLIN'S ASTUTE PROPAGANDA
French Communists have adopted a policy of cutting the tires on any American car that looks too prosperous if they find it parked in an isolated street. The strategy behind this policy is not so much anti-American as to make Americans anti-French. American tourists visiting France this summer should bear this in mind. They should also bear in mind the fact that, if the Communists are able to stir up ill will between France and the United States, they will have taken an important step toward thwarting the formation of a united European army—an army which Moscow fears more than any other single postwar development.

Incidentally, that's why Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, while making a great fetish of tracking down alleged Communists with one hand, plays right into the Communist lap with the other hand by curtailing U. S. propaganda abroad.

Management's Duty: Talk Politics With Workers, Industrialist Says

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It is the duty as well as the right of industrial leaders to talk political issues with their employees. So declares Austin S. Igleheart, the ruddy-cheeked, white-haired boss of 19,000 men and women in one of the nation's top food industries.

In the face of the government seizure of the steel industry and this year's presidential election, Igleheart, president of General Foods Corp., forthrightly insists that he and his fellow executives should explain the meaning of current political issues to the people who work for them.

"In general, management, in general, has been too long with its employees on such issues," says Igleheart, whose company produces about 400 items of all kinds and had gross sales in 1951 of more than $589 million. Igleheart himself is more than a food industrialist; he is a director of such diversified businesses as Chase National Bank, International Steel, Commercial Solvents, and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad.

"I believe the political issues of this year affect the welfare and future of all the employees just as much as the welfare of the company," he told NEA Service in an exclusive two-hour interview.

Sixty-two, Indiana - born and educated at the University of Wisconsin, Igleheart manifests well-tailored toughness. He is soft-spoken except when provoked into atomic profanity.

"It doesn't strike me odd that I should talk politics on a personal basis with an employee, or that any other executive should. And I mean freely and easily as one would with any friend or a casual business acquaintance," he said. "Of course, it would be assumed that I was talking from the standpoint of their and the company's mutual interests."

He said the company's experience in getting safety rules across to its employees set the pattern for getting them to understand economic truth better.

"In our safety drive we didn't get very far with posters, printed matter and speeches. We learned that the only way was to sit down with a man who might get hurt in an accident and talk directly with him. Then we got results."

General Foods used that experience to explain to its people how capitalism works and what it means to them. They held group meetings where discussions were carried on under group leaders chosen from the plant areas where the meetings were held. The leader's job was to keep the thinking along proper lines, he said.

"Yes, there was some training of the leaders," he admitted. But he vigorously denied that this was indoctrination or that the leaders could in the remotest way be likened to political commissars.

"In one plant we invited two of the dominant union officials to join the group," he said. "At first these men stood in the back of the room and acted disinterested. But after the third meeting they reported that they had decided their union was teaching them a slanted interpretation of capitalism."

The company next held group discussions on inflation. Igleheart claims that most voters have at best a hazy understanding of its source. He fears that inflation and the public's ignorance of its source endanger our freedom and can be used to foment statism on the country.

The wage-price spiral is the result, not the cause, of inflation; the primary cause, according to Igleheart, is an increase in the supply of money and credit due to the government's fiscal policy. "By forcing its bonds into the banking system and by deficit spending, the government is accelerating inflation by pouring more expendable funds into the market than there are goods and service to buy. Too many Congressmen in both major parties are going along with this policy because it is popular with uninformed voters," he said.

AUSTIN IGLEHEART: Management has been silent too long.

He added that not only inflation but also taxation, legislation influencing management - labor conditions in plants, national defense, foreign policy and government controls must be understood by every voter if individual freedom and our high standard of living are to persist.

"The will to be informed and to inform others according to his lights is the duty of every citizen," he emphasized. "Certainly, we here (and the same goes for every other business in the country) have the right to exchange openly and without fear of public criticism our views on government policies and intentions that affect all of us."

"But certainly it is not the right of executives to mention their favorite party or candidate," he admitted. "On the contrary, we urge each member of our company to express his own personal convictions and to support the political party, candidates and issues he favors."

"Dishonesty in government — and I am not pointing to any one political party — plus unrealistic economic theories and the gradual encroachment of socialism, are weakening American business. I doubt whether industry will ever have more to lose than right now," he said. "So we can't be expected to sit on our backsides and slide uphill."

Japan's Big Earthquake Happened In Right Place

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The earthquake that hit the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido early in March had all the specifications of major disaster except heavy loss of life, the National Geographic Society reports.

The tremor, named "The Earthquake off Tokachi," was described by Japan's central meteorological observatory as the heaviest in the area in 68 years, which would make it more severe than the 1923 temblor that caused some 143,000 deaths in the Tokyo-Yokohama area.

In addition, the latest quake was accompanied by a series of seismic sea waves—often miscalled tidal waves—which devastated the coastline of eastern Hokkaido, sweeping away fishing villages and boats and damaging coastal property.

The death toll, however, was less than two score. Officials say there are several reasons for the small casualty list. Hokkaido is sparsely populated; the efficient Japanese warning service predicted seismic waves, or tsunami, after the initial shock, and the earthquake population did not even wait for the warning, but deserted the coast minutes after the quake.

Chief damage lay in twisted and torn railways, houses swept away by waves, and shattered and burned buildings. Fire, which follows every earthquake as gas and water lines are broken, chimneys toppled and stoves upset, took its usual toll. But again the thinly settled area suffered less than Tokyo or Yokohama in 1923, or San Francisco in 1906. In these disasters fire swept unchecked through urban areas.

Such a major earthquake with comparatively little loss of life resembles the violent temblors that shook the Himalayas in 1857 and 1950, sending mountainsides roaring down into ravines and damming rivers. Sparse population limited loss of life in both these disasters, known as the Assam Earthquakes, although both made noticeable changes in geographical features.

Any violent movement under the sea—and the Earthquake off Tokachi was centered in the ocean east of Hokkaido—usually creates seismic waves.

Damage done by these waves is governed as much by the nature of the shore as by the seismic disturbance that causes them. Where the shoreline drops off sharply, there is a rise and fall of water that does comparatively little damage. Where the sea bed slopes more gradually, the waves come in as massive walls of water, sweeping everything before them.

The Hokkaido wave, variously described as 10 to 15 feet high, was a ripple compared to some seismic sea waves. In the Sanriku earthquake of 1896 the water reached a height of 95 feet in Miyako Bay, Japan, and the Dutch Harbor, Alaska, tremor of 1946 set up waves that swept over tops of palm trees as far away as Hawaii.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

BETTER THAN EVER—Escanaba motorists—like the movies, city elections, and smelt fishing—are better than ever.

While driving down Ludington the other day we saw the motorist ahead stick out his hand. Ah, ha! A signal at last. But no—he only tossed away a cigarette.

And the number of motorists who swing to the left at the intersection and then turn to the right (or vice versa) appears to be growing. If they were wheeling on an ore boat they wouldn't be able to turn around in Little Bay de Noc.

Escanaba motorists are also improving their ability to stop at a stop sign without stopping, which is quite an accomplishment. It is done by momentarily slowing to shift from high to second gear.

LUCKY YOU—If you were not among the motorists who were ticketed for traffic law violations, or who were killed or injured in a traffic accident—you are lucky.

Not that Escanaba and Delta county have an unusually high traffic arrest or accident death rate, but the possibility of a ticket or a death is increasing.

For one thing the traffic law enforcement officers are steadily bearing down on violators, noting that the driver who violates the minor traffic laws (if there are any) becomes careless with all highway laws.

In Escanaba the number of traffic tickets being issued is going up for all types of violations from overtime parking to reckless driving. It is expected they will soon hit 100 a month in the city—which will set an all-time record.

NOT SO LUCKY—There were more than 2,000,000 Americans last year who were not so lucky as you.

This figure includes the 37,100 persons who were killed and the 1,962,600 persons who were injured in traffic accidents.

They were very unlucky indeed, and some of them do not live to take another chance on a hill, in passing on the yellow line, in running a stop sign, or trying to beat the train to the crossing.

Yes, they were very unlucky—but you are lucky for ahead of you is the possibility of correcting some of your bad driving habits and staying alive for another year.

WHAT TO AVOID—Since you are alive and presumably want to continue in that condition, statistics will assist you in avoiding the major killers on the highway.

You should avoid speeding, above everything, for exceeding the speed limit took the lives of 13,730 persons or nearly 50 per cent of those killed in 1951.

Stay on your own side of the road if you want to enjoy motoring—for driving on the wrong side rubbed out 5,100 or 18 per cent of those killed last year; and at all times drive carefully—for wreckless driving cost the lives of 10 per cent or 2,960 persons in 1951.

WALK WITH CARE—People are either pedestrians or motorists, depending on whether they are afoot or behind the wheel. When the driver steps from his auto he becomes a pedestrian—a very hazardous occupation in 1951.

Of the 37,100 persons killed in traffic accidents last year, 9,470 were pedestrians. An additional 290,866 were injured.

Sometimes the pedestrians are far from innocent victims of the motorist. For the pedestrian is inclined to disregard the law and then blame the car driver—if he lives to accuse anyone.

Pedestrian faults are topped by the No. 1 infraction of the law—crossing between intersections. This accounted for 3,530 deaths last year. Walking on a rural highway calls for extra caution, since 1,360 were killed while out for a stroll.

Whether you walk or ride, you were lucky last year. Being alive proves it. Only continued caution will keep you alive in 1952, for the number of traffic deaths and injuries is increasing.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
"Clothes come clean," as an advertising claim, distresses a reader who thinks it should read, "Clothes become clean." The latter could be used, of course, but the use of "come" to indicate the shifting from one condition into another has the sanction of usage from time immemorial. Examples are "to come untied," and "to do what comes natural."

Mt. Vernon, N. Y.—"Bob rode up to Grant Park." Is that sentence correct?—C. B.

Answer.—No, the verb "ride" is not used reflexively to indicate a pleasant journey. The type of journey is that shown by, "They rode him on a rail out of town," or, "They rode him in a cart to the gallows." The sentence should be, "Bob rode him in a cart to the gallows." The sentence should be, "Bob took us in his car to Grant Park."

Daytona Beach, Fla.—"What is the meaning of 'Gullah,' which I see in fiction, chiefly; such as, 'a Gullah Negro.' He spoke in Gullah"—B. S. V.

Answer.—"Gullah" is applied to the Negroes of Georgia and South Carolina who are descendants of a tribe brought to those states in the early 18th century. The name may have originally been "Gola," from a tribe of that name in Liberia, or "Ngola," from a tribe in Angola. The Gullah dialect is a remarkable mixture of the peasant English that was spoken by some plantation owners and their servants and of certain African words. This mixture became accepted Negro speech of the region, and is so distinct that it cannot be read without a glossary.

ABSENTEE BALLOTS (See Evening News)

There is a story told of the man who never fixed his leaky roof because he could not work on it while it rained and there was no need for him to do it when the sun shone. Sometimes it seems as if Americans apply the same sort of logic to their handling of national affairs and needed reforms.

During World War II there was considerable agitation to grant servicemen the right to vote by absentee ballots. Many states passed temporary enabling legislation to allow such voting. The idea was that when things quieted down some permanent ruling on voting by servicemen would be made. Yet, seven years after the end of the war, over one-half of all servicemen will be ineligible to vote. Most of the temporary legislation has expired without being renewed. The situation today is actually worse than it was in 1944.

In twenty states absentee ballots will not be mailed until 30 days before the last day that such ballots can be returned. It is estimated that it requires 45 days to get the ballots to the servicemen and have them returned.

It may be too late to do much about making reforms in these voting regulations now. But now is the time to take immediate action. Men who serve in the armed forces deserve the right to have a say in their government. Every effort must be made to see that they are given that right.

A rosy future in royalties for some authors just isn't in the books.

The optimist believes times are ripe—the pessimist thinks they're rotten.

The Doctor Says... Attacks Of Gout Usually Follow Meals Which Contain Purines

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

A correspondent, Mrs. S., writes, "I am a woman, 49 years old, and have had periodic attacks of gout in the large toe joint for the past seven years. . . Please tell me more about this."

Gout is an extraordinarily interesting disease, though not an extremely common one. Among other things, it is said that gout is one of the most painful of all human disorders, and those who have had an attack will certainly agree as will many doctors who have observed acute attacks.

The cause of gout is not known, although there are several curious things about it which one would think would give a clue. It is principally a disease of men, and Mrs. S. is one of the few unfortunate women who have developed gout.

A typical attack is likely to start with terrific pain at the base of one of the big toes. This pain is sharp and frequently awakens the victim from a sound sleep in the middle of the night. The joint is extremely tender—so much so that even the weight of the bed clothes may be too much to bear.

Overindulgence in food often seems to bring on an attack. Many patients with gout report an unusually rich or large meal before the attack, such as a steak dinner or a large amount of wine or other alcoholic beverage.

Gout is associated with certain foods which contain substances called purines. Liver, sweetbreads, kidney, squab, and calf's tongue are especially rich in purines. Other foods like sausage, beef, pork, veal, and several kinds of fish also have a lot of purines and are not safe for the sufferer from gout.

By proper knowledge of diet and sometimes by the addition of one or two drugs, it is often possible to prevent attacks of acute gout or at least to make them come less often. In those who have had acute gout for years, a chronic form often appears which doctors now call gouty arthritis.

CRYSTALS FORM

In this phase of gout, crystal-like substances are deposited in or near the joints. These cannot be dissolved, but are not very painful between acute attacks. However, these crystals, called urates, can become so numerous that they are disfiguring, some reaching the size of hen's eggs or even larger.

Time-honored treatment by diet and certain drugs is useful both in acute attacks and in cutting down the number and frequency of attacks. Cortisone and ACTH, if given at the right time, appear to halt an attack, but when they are stopped the attack generally comes on later.

Child-Rearing Theories False

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW ORLEANS—One of the things that keeps knocking at my personal bone of logic is the seeming off-to-hell-in-a-bucket tendency of the modern young'un, after a few generations of fancied raising theories and techniques. By now we should have a population at least 90 per cent angel, but you keep reading about the narcotics kick and the youthful orgy, and you wonder what went wrong with the plan.

I was talking seriously with a mother of a brace of teenagers the other day, and she forwarded some mild hope that her steady-dating youngsters would not get trapped into marriages of necessity before they turned 18. She said it flatly, calmly, with no levity, and cited cases in the neighborhood (good neighborhood, too) of several youthful wedding's for the express purpose of outdistancing the baby. She seemed to accept it as usual, and almost inevitable.

You realize that you can't draw any sweeping generalities about kids without opening the door to exception. But, on a mild generality, it does seem that all the gaudy theories of advanced young-rearing have not paid off positively, and may have weakened the over-all moral health of the nation's youth.

Test Tube for Theories

We have been harping on the progressive-child prescriptions for about 30 years now. We have force-fed parents of children who are now parents themselves on a diet of moonbeams and witchcraft dished up by any old maid who wanted to write a book.

It is indeed an underprivileged youngster who has not had all the latest theories and wild conjectures practiced on his innocent, baffled carcass. The psychologists, the food faddists, the cranks and the crooks have all had a stout go at junior. He has been interpreted and reinterpreted, and diagnosed and prescribed, for, and the net effect is certainly no better than the old-fashioned hickory-switch-and-spring- tonic technique.

I believe no single past generation of minor vipers has been so steadfastly stuffed on scientific pap as during the past 20 years. We have been told to treat the young as adult almost before they are old enough to distinguish not from cold. Clinics, lectures, books, pamphlets, articles, radio, television movies, newspapers—everybody's had a bang at baby's welfare.

We have been told to hand-tailor their minds as they graduate from diapers to play suit to long pants. We have been told that pampering makes drunks and thieves of them later on, and that free expression is necessary, and that every child is a little adult who mustn't be smacked for fear of building a trauma of the soul. I am no expert, but it seems to me we may have overestimated the potential and overextended the capacity, and built ourselves a brood of adult-children who grow up to be child-adults.

Need Stern Discipline
There was, in my memory, a clear-cut period of childhood, in which the youngsters were allowed to play unhampered, like puppies, before some pretty stern parental discipline took over. The discipline was rigidly maintained until it became unnecessary or the juvenile overran it. The child of my youth, certainly, was not early jaded from saturation in adult knowledge, nor was he harassed constantly by theory in the inept hands of parents. Babies were not treated as men.

As I understand it, we have a percentage today that gets in bad trouble from boredom, and from psychic insecurity, and from super-sophistication. Possibly our biggest domestic story of the past year or so has been that of narcotic addiction among the very young. It is hard to believe that a healthy child of good raishin' would wind up taking shots in the arm for kicks, but the evidence says it is a prevalent practice.

I will not say that my gang, raised by guess and homely dogma, didn't get into all sorts of troubles, because it did. But I will claim that the complicated recipes for child-rearing in recent years haven't built an exceptional breed of citizens, and may have contributed extensively to the detriment of the mass.

The letter R on a medical prescription stands for the Latin word recipe, and means to "take," explains the American Medical Association.

Pilot Who Survived Two Airline Tragedies Returns To New York

NEW YORK—(P)—Capt. John C. Burn, the airline pilot who twice escaped air crashes, came home with his attractive wife, singer Jane Froman.

All Burn had to say was that he was "just glad to be home."

He didn't want to talk about last week's crash of his plane into the ocean off Puerto Rico. Fifty-two persons were killed in the accident. Burn was one of 17 survivors.

During the war Burn was the co-pilot of a plane that crashed into the sea at Lisbon, Portugal.

Miss Froman was a passenger on that plane.

Burn rescued her from the water. The singer was crippled by the crash—but recovered and later married Burn.

Miss Froman had flown to Puerto Rico to be with her husband after last week's crash.

Mrs. Joe Miron in Gladstone.

Supt. Leo Godin, Floyd Fuhri-man, Emil Norden, Carl Branstrom, N. J. Sharkey and Louie Pamperin attended the Delta County School Board Association meeting in Rapid River Friday.

MERCURY BEATS ALL COMERS IN MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

3 WINS IN 3 YEARS!

Lincoln Again Best in Class — Runs Second in Sweepstakes

Now look at Mercury's three-year-in-a-row record in the Mobilgas Economy Run: three out of three times winner in its price class; two out of three times Sweepstakes winner against all cars in every class! Look at Lincoln, too. Lincoln won Class G first prize and provided Mercury's closest competition for top Sweepstakes honors.

The Mobilgas Economy Run is open to all cars of every make. To assure an equal chance for all, regardless of size and weight, ton-miles-per-gallon performance* determines the winner.

A 1932 Mercury Monterey Special Custom Sedan with optional overdrive swept the field with 59,7188 ton-miles-per-gallon, averaging 25.4093 miles-per-gallon. And the engine that did it is Mercury's famous V-8. The Lincoln Capri Sedan with Hydra-Matic transmission won its class prize with 58,9085 ton-miles-per-gallon, averaging 22.3562 miles per gallon.

Right now, in our showroom, is a 1932 Mercury similar to the one that won this official, impartial test. Why not stop around and give it a try? No obligation, of course.

*Ton-miles-per-gallon equals the car weight (with passengers), multiplied by miles travelled, divided by gallons of gasoline used.

GRUELING

1,415-MILE

TEST

What a test to prove Mercury and Lincoln superiority! This year's Mobilgas Economy Run covers 1,415 miles from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, Idaho. This longest and toughest test extends from below sea level in Death Valley to 8,010 feet in Arizona mountains. Mercury outperformed all others to win both the grand Sweepstakes prize and Class C 1st place. Lincoln won Class G.

TYPICAL WARD WEEK VALUES—HUNDREDS OF ITEMS CUT-PRICED NOW

Students Rule City Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the day that students at Escanaba High School "take over the city" as a part of their work in government studies under Miss Nina Levy.

The students take the city reins starting at 8 a. m. They will visit all of the city departments and in the afternoon attend a meeting of the "council" at which problems in city government will be considered.

The annual high school project got under way several weeks ago when students voted for members of the Council. Elected at the school were Ted Rouman, Denis Harbath, Glen Larsen, Gerry Olson and Lynn Bergman. Candidates campaigned vigorously in pre-election days.

The city council and Dave Gasman, city manager, made appointments to city positions last week. The students, selected on the basis of marks in city government tests—corresponding to civil service examinations—were appointed as follows:

Joyce Sundquist, city clerk; Ken Gundersen, assessor; Mona Redman comptroller; John Nelson, engineer; Connie Gallagher, treasurer; Pat Heminger, light; Shirley Lausen, steam; Pat Larson, gas; Ann Plucker, water; Roger Mattson, forester; Bill Roberts, public works; Barbara L'Heureux, sewage; Edna Seguin, service; Ted Sogard, director of safety; Hubert Schmidt, police captain; Barbara O'Donnell, fire captain; and Betty Nantell, recreation director.

Officials Visit Recruiting Office

Mayor LeMire, Councilman Knutson, Councilman Cox and Councilman Bink were visitors at the local U. S. Army and USAF recruiting station during the first day of a week long open house in connection with the America's re-tailers Air Force recruiting week. The mayor and councilmen were impressed by the many advantages and career opportunities offered by enlistments in the Air Force for both men and women, as well as the opportunity offered the young man who has two years of college for training as an aviation cadet.

The mayor commented that every individual within the city should, if at all possible, visit the U. S. Army and USAF recruiting station some time during the week.

Court Upholds Award By Jury

(Special To The Press)
GREEN BAY—A Circuit Court jury's award of approximately $6,000 in damages against the Northland Greyhound Lines, Inc., in the death of Kinney Nelson, Green Bay salesman, last July is upheld in a decision filed today by Circuit Judge E. M. DuQuaine.

Driver of the bus was Thomas Williams of Escanaba.

Judge DuQuaine confirmed the jury's finding of 70 per cent negligence against Williams, 20 per cent against Nelson, and 10 per cent against Clayton Lehman, Escanaba, driver of a Clairmont Transfer truck of Escanaba.

Also confirmed is the jury's determination of $700 in damages to the truck and $168 for loss of use.

The Clairmont Company had previously asked for an increase of this amount to $1,400 and Judge DuQuaine commented that while the jury's finding seemed to be in support of this claim, the determination of the amount was in the province of the jury.

Lehman was awarded $700 for personal injuries which will be decreased by 10 per cent, the amount of his negligence.

The case grew out of a fatal collision on US-41 north of Duck Creek last July.

Nelson's car, going north, was involved in a collision with a loaded Clairmont truck, driven by Lehman, going south.

At the moment of collision, a Greyhound bus, driven by Williams, also going north, was passing the Nelson car on the left shoulder of the highway.

In stating his opinion, Judge DuQuaine said, "It was because the bus was occupying the left shoulder of the road that the truck driver, trying to remain clear of it, invaded the left half of the road, causing the truck to collide with the car."

"If the bus driver had applied his brakes, a great deal more latitude would have been afforded the truck driver to maneuver his truck past the Nelson car."

At another point, DuQuaine stated that "The Court would be better satisfied with a verdict that exonerated Nelson and placed more blame on Lehman."

An appeal to the Supreme Court is probable.

eral, Frisbie won the silver star for gallantry in action while leading the First Division ashore on Guadalcanal in World War II. Later he won the Navy Cross in the battle of New Britain.

Frisbie, a native of Virden, Ill., enlisted in the Marines as a private in August, 1917, after his graduation from Illinois college. He went to officers candidate school at Quantico, Va., and was commissioned a lieutenant Dec. 15, 1918.

Later he saw fighting in Santo Domingo and Nicaragua. His first prison experience was in 1947-48 when he was head of the Marine Disciplinary Barracks at Portsmouth, N. H.

Upon his retirement, while at the Disciplinary Barracks, Frisbie became acting warden at Southern Michigan prison. That was in November, 1948. Later he was made warden.

TROOPERS GET NICKED

JACKSON—(AP)—State Police Commissioner Donald Leonard's scalp was nicked by a piece of flying glass or brick and three state troopers were injured in the Southern Michigan prison riots.

Trooper George Catton was hit over the head with a pick handle. Jack Wuthrich was cut by a flying bottle of catsup, and John Carstenson was gashed in the leg when a prisoner threw a length of pipe, javelin-fashion, from a window.

Wall Street

By RADAR WINGET
NEW YORK—(AP)—Demand for railroad issues, and some oils, today kept the Stock Market pointed ahead.

While the rails and oils were favorites, the steels were fractionally lower for the most part, and auto, motors held steady at best.

Kern county land, yesterday's most active issue, was an upside favorite again today with a gain of between 2 and 3 points at time.

Atlantic Refining opened on a block 1,000 shares up 3 at 86 and continued quietly at around that level. Richfield Oil, which has a new well on land near Kern county holdings, also was higher.

The better rails included Seaboard Air Line, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, and Nickel Plate.

Texas Co. was well head, although not too active, as the company estimated first quarter earnings equal to $1.55 a share as against $1.47 a share earned a year ago.

Liggett & Myers was down after reporting first quarter earnings equal to 91 cents a share as compared with $1.32 a share a year ago.

Among higher stocks were Sinclair Oil, Standard Oil (N. J.), Kennecott Copper, Homestake Mining, Allied Chemical, York Corp., St. Regis Paper, Chrysler, United Aircraft, and Zenith Radio.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Rubber, J. I. Case, General Electric, Paramount Pictures, and Johns-Manville.

The market yesterday staged a rebound with railroads leading, but the recovery was based on a low volume of business, a fact that brought some disappointment to bulls who would like to see more vigor in the advance.

Wrecked Prison Tense; Damage To Run In Millions

on the prison radio.

Officials at beleaguered southern Michigan prison said today a convict leader had agreed to appeal to fellow inmates this afternoon to stop their rioting.

They said inmate Russel Jarbo, a ringleader in the two-day mutiny and rioting, would make the appeal by radio at 2 p. m. (EST).

They quoted Jarbo as saying that such an appeal might help lead to a quick settlement of the convicts' grievances against the prison management.

On Radio At 2 P. M.
Dr. Vernon Fox, deputy warden, announced the result of his attempt to achieve a truce in the mutiny and rioting which has killed one convict and injured nine others and caused damage estimated up to $2,000,000.

Fox, after conferring with Warden Julian Frisbie, went this morning to Cell Block 15, where 179 mutineers were holding 11 guards as hostages.

After a short conference, Fox then went to the prison kitchen nearby. There, he got a car with two big kettles of food and rolled it into Cell Block 15. Then after another brief talk with mutiny leader Earl E. Ward and others, Fox announced that Jarbo would come out of the block at 2 p. m. to appeal to his mates.

Ore Boat Trade Sends Local Grocer To Sea

When the ore shipping season opens in Escanaba, Norm Stephenson, pioneer groceryman here, becomes a sea-going grocer, a one-man employment bureau and a special mail carrier.

Every spring, since 1919, he begins his marine grocery business, delivering food supplies in a power launch or ore boats tied up at the local docks.

It's a 24-hour job that takes him out in all weather and at any time of the day (or night) to bring the victuals that are generally ordered by the ship's cook while the boat is enroute to Escanaba.

Most of the orders are called to him from Milwaukee while the ships are docked there, but some come after the boat has arrived here, making necessary a speedier job of filling the order.

Delivers Week's Supply

What they order are crew-size rations of meat, fish, produce and canned and household goods, enough to last until the ship's next port. Most of the time this means a week's to a ten-day's supply.

These he delivers while the boat is in dock, in a 33-foot steel power launch, hoisting them onto the ore boats over the side of the port stern section, near the galley.

Modern refrigeration has made his job easier. In the old days when the boats had ice-boxes, he sold ice to the boats to keep fresh the groceries he delivered.

Of all the memories he has gathered in his 33 years in the marine grocery trade, he most clearly remembers one experience which was almost fatal.

Close Call

While he was loading ice aboard one of his customer ships one day, the mate on deck, seeing that the ore-loading of the ship was finished, gave the order to get under way.

Stephenson's launch was, as always, between the stern of the ship and the dock.

Realizing that the mate had most likely forgotten that groceries were still being loaded, I had to get my launch out of the way before the ore boat began to back out of its berth," he tells.

In the speediest maneuver he ever executed, he recalls, he got the launch out of the pinch between the dock and the ship, with no time wasted.

The job puts him on call 24 hours a day. He may have an order for a carrier which is arriving during the night; another boat may call in an order while it is being loaded here.

"Those that come in during the night and leave before morning need a quick delivery," he comments.

Hoisting his groceries aboard takes about 30 minutes.

Helps Place Sailors

He takes the groceries from his store, at 301 Ludington St., to the launch which is usually tied up near the Hansen & Jensen slip, just a short walk from the store. From there, he navigates the launch out of the harbor, around the Reiss coal dock and to the C&NW docks and a waiting ore carrier.

His business doesn't stop when he is out of town. Mrs. Stephenson, an excellent skipper of the craft herself, takes over when her husband is unable to make a delivery.

Through the years he has also become a one-man employment bureau for Escanaba sailors temporarily without a ship.

He may get a call from a skipper, telling Stephenson he needs a deck hand, or an oiler. He then looks over a list of names left at his store by unemployed sailors. When he finds one with the job specialty that is needed, he notifies the man of the vacancy aboard the ship which is soon to dock in Escanaba.

He estimates he placed about 75 seamen on boats last year in this way.

Delivers Crew's Mail

Along with the load of groceries, Stephenson often delivers mail for the crew. Hundreds of crew members and skippers have left his address with their families.

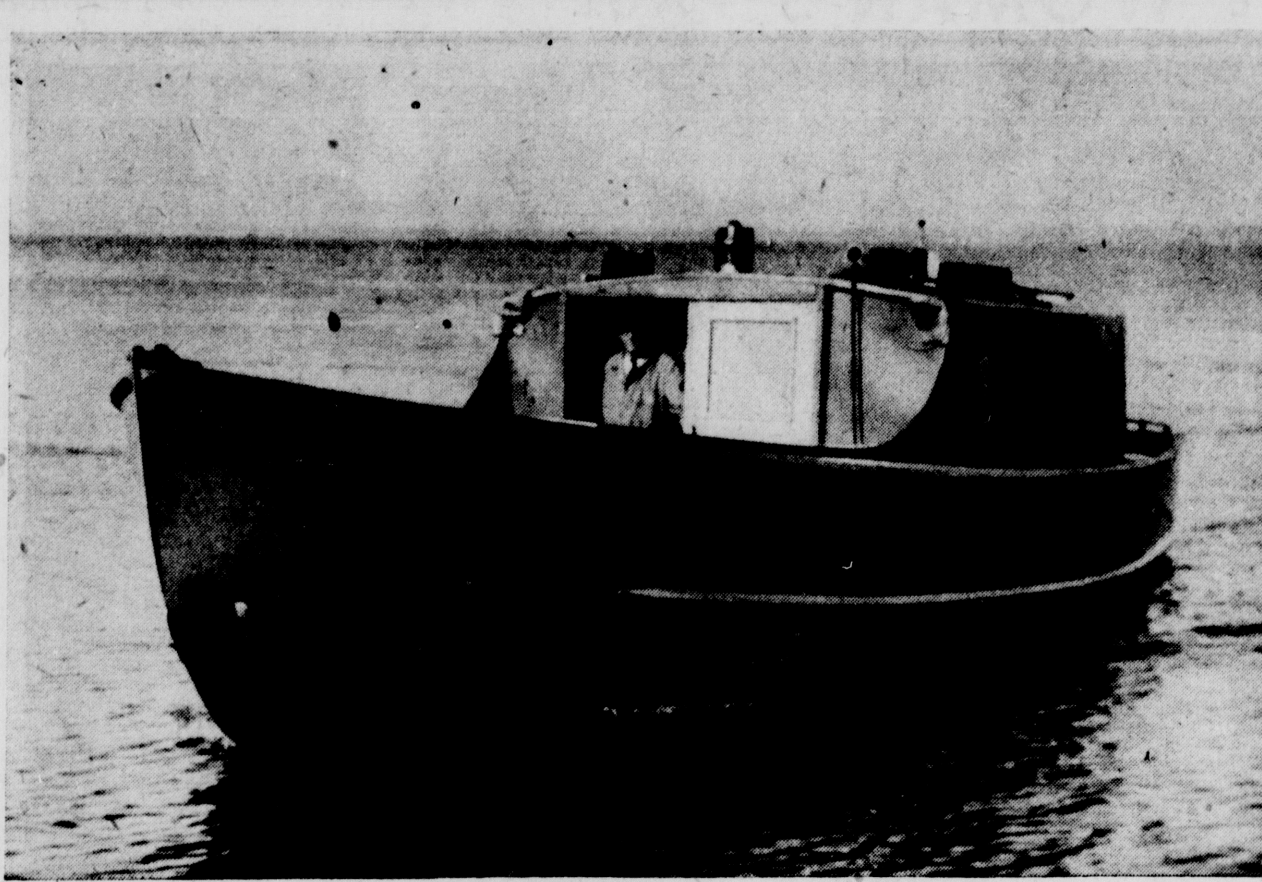

"When the families know that the boat is due in Escanaba, they mail their letters to me for forwarding," he says.

Ore boats aren't the only customers he has as a marine grocer. He also delivers supplies to the Coast Guard ships which come here periodically, and to the maintenance crew of the Minneapolis Shoal lighthouse station.

His fame has become slightly far-flung through the boats' skippers—"I knew most of them when they were mates," he claims.

Through them, the Cleveland Plain Dealer got wind of his activities as a sea-going grocer, one-man employment bureau, and special mail carrier and published, a few years ago, a story on him in a marine news column.

Mrs. Buckland wore a two piece navy dress trimmed with gray and a corsage of yellow roses for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a print with navy background and her corsage was pink roses. The bridegroom's grandmother attended the wedding in a gray dress with which she wore a corsage of white lilies.

Mrs. Glen Larson played the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Roland Ekstrom sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "O Promise Me," the latter as the couple knelt at the altar.

Reception at Temple

The reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. Yellow and white streamers and white wedding bells formed the decorations. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed in yellow and topped with a miniature bride and groom. A buffet luncheon was served 150 guests.

The newlyweds following their honeymoon will live in Bay View. Both attended Escanaba High School. The bride is employed by the City Drug Store and Mr. Olson by the DeCock Bottled Gas & Appliance Co.

Ask Golfers To Help At Course

A "rake brigade" of Manistique golfers is urgently requested to report at the Indian Lake course at 6 p. m. Wednesday to rake and clean the greens.

The appeal was voiced yesterday by R. G. Hentschell, president of the Indian Lake Country Club, who emphasized the importance of removing all dead grass from the greens before new grass shoots grow too long.

A crew of approximately 30 golfers is required to do the job, he said, and urged that every member who can get away should report for duty armed with a good steel-toothed rake. In addition to clearing away dead grass, the rake action also will loosen top soil and encourage new grass growth, he pointed out.

Mac Johnson, greenskeeper, was expected to be back on the

Local, National Help Highlights Red Cross Work

Assistance to local residents and aid on a national scale to disaster-stricken areas constitute some of the major activities of the Red Cross organization, it is pointed out by Mrs. Earl Malloch Sr., Schoolcraft County roll call chairman.

The forces of the national organization have been mobilized to bring relief to the flood areas of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers, she said, stating that over 34 shelters have been established and 5,500 cots and 10,000 blankets dispatched to the areas from Red Cross warehouses. Mobile feeding equipment has been sent from eight chapters in five states to supplement the efforts of the Red Cross centers in providing food for homeless families.

Local aid, while not as dramatic and headline-making as national relief programs, is still one of the basic activities of Red Cross chapters, Mrs. Malloch said. This aid is usually provided through a chapter's home service program.

During the past year, according to figures compiled by Mrs. Walter Busch, home service chairman, aid has been extended locally to seven veterans, 78 service men and 28 civilians. Twelve loans have been made, and 14 service men have been helped on furloughs and 28 on furlough extensions. The local chapter also has provided help to two families whose homes burned. Nineteen cases of miscellaneous aid also are reported.

"To finance these activities, both local and national, the Red Cross needs your help," Mrs. Malloch said. "Please give generously during the present roll call campaign."

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE

To Our Customers and Friends

We are happy to be able to tell you that the lawsuit brought more than four years ago against Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation by Harry Ferguson and Harry Ferguson, Inc. has been settled by agreement of the parties.

There are three points connected with this settlement which as a present or possible future owner of a Ford Tractor, we want to make clear to you. Regardless of what you may hear to the contrary, these are the FACTS.

3 Points of Interest To Our Present and Future Customers

1 Ford Motor Company will continue production of the present Ford Tractor without interruption, and Dearborn Motors Corporation will continue to market them nationally as in the past. By the end of 1952, Ford Motor Company has agreed to make two simple changes, and only two changes, in the means of operation and control of a pump used in the hydraulic system in the Ford Tractor. After these simple changes have been made, there is nothing in the settlement of the suit to prevent Ford Motor Company from continuing the manufacture of the present Ford Tractor for as long as it may choose.

2 Ford Motor Company will continue to produce and Dearborn Motors Corporation, and ourselves as dealer, will continue to supply all repair parts for all past, present and future Ford Tractors.

3 Ford Tractors will continue to offer all the advantages of the present system of hydraulic control, the present method of attaching and operating implements, and all other features responsible for their wide popularity. Dearborn Motors will continue to offer its same complete line of implements.

It is a source of deep satisfaction to us to be in a position to debunk conclusively and finally in this way the assertions that have been made and the propaganda that has been spread over the past four years.

Announcement!

We have just received a shipment of New Ford Tractors which are now ready for delivery.

Letters To The Editor

April 21, 1952

To the Editor,
Escanaba Press,
Dear Editor:

I wish to enter a mild protest against the title, "Million Dollars Raised by Two Young Gamblers To Buy Big Logging Firms," given by your esteemed paper to my article in your April 19th issue.

Webster's defines "gamble"—"To lose or squander by gaming"; the Encyclopedia Americana, as "the practice of playing for a money stake depending solely on chance."

If we had staked $500.00 on the turn of a card, or the spin of a roulette wheel, we would have been gamblers. If "A" bets $5000.00 on a 200 to 1 shot in a horse race he is gambling, and, note carefully, there is nothing he can do to help the horse win. He must sit back and let pure chance take over, and the chances are 200 to 1 that he will lose his $5000.

What were we doing? We were "venturing" $500,000 of our capital in a business proposition. Just as the farmer who plants a crop, or the merchant who goes into business, or the company that drills an oil well. They take risks of course, but they all work hard to make their "venture" good, unlike the gambler who does nothing but depend solely on chance.

The gambler is an excrescence, a cancer, who feeds on society and gives nothing in return. But "venture capital" has given us every material thing we possess.

Furthermore, George H. Orr would never have given an option on the company's properties to "Two Young Gamblers." The C. L. Co. had no use for gamblers, and wouldn't do business with them. And Mr. Orr would never have tied up the company's property for eight months unless he had known us pretty well, and been fairly sure the deal would go through.

It wasn't a very risky venture for us. We had studied the situation, were sure we could put the deal over, and knew just how we were going about it. We each subscribed for $50,000.00 of stock, and were in position to pay for it, and Messrs. Putnam, Hixson and Thomas had agreed to put in $115,000.00 in cash. We also knew the properties were worth twice the amount of the option. Mr. Orr knew it too, but the old crowd, (all over 70 years of age), wanted to clean up and not be bothered with details of liquidation.

The next three articles, which closes the story, will show the final outcome, and will, I think, convince anyone that we were not "gamblers."

Sincerely yours,
William S. Crowe.

Ask Golfers To Help At Course

A "rake brigade" of Manistique golfers is urgently requested to report at the Indian Lake course at 8 p. m. Wednesday to rake and clean the greens.

The appeal was voiced yesterday by R. G. Hentschell, president of the Indian Lake Country Club, who emphasized the importance of removing all dead grass from the greens before new grass shoots grow too long.

A crew of approximately 30 golfers is required to do the job, he said, and he urged that every member who can get away should report for duty armed with a good steel-toothed rake. In addition to clearing away dead grass, the rake action also will loosen top soil and encourage new grass growth, he pointed out.

Mac Johnson, greenskeeper, was expected to be back on the

Local, National Help Highlights Red Cross Work

Assistance to local residents and aid on a national scale to disaster-stricken areas constitute some of the major activities of the Red Cross organization, it is pointed out by Mrs. Earl Malloch Sr., Schoolcraft County roll call chairman.

The forces of the national organization have been mobilized to bring relief to the flood areas of the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers, she said, stating that over 34 shelters have been established and 5,500 cots and 10,000 blankets dispatched to the areas from Red Cross warehouses. Mobile feeding equipment has been sent from eight chapters in five states to job this week to start getting the course in condition.

"If good weather continues," Hentschell said, "we should be able to start playing golf early in May."

supplement the efforts of the Red Cross centers in providing food for homeless families.

Local aid, while not as dramatic and headline-making as national relief programs, is still one of the basic activities of Red Cross chapters, Mrs. Malloch said. This aid is usually provided through a chapter's home service program.

During the past year, according to figures compiled by Mrs. Walter Busch, home service chairman, aid has been extended locally to seven veterans, 78 service men and 28 civilians. Twelve loans have been made, and 14 service men have been helped on furloughs and 28 on furlough extensions. The local chapter also has provided help to two families whose homes burned. Nineteen cases of miscellaneous aid also are reported.

"To finance these activities, both local and national, the Red Cross needs your help," Mrs. Malloch said. "Please give generously during the present roll call campaign."

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE

To Our Customers and Friends

We are happy to be able to tell you that the lawsuit brought more than four years ago against Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation by Harry Ferguson and Harry Ferguson, Inc. has been settled by agreement of the parties.

There are three points connected with this settlement which as a present or possible future owner of a Ford Tractor, we want to make clear to you. Regardless of what you may hear to the contrary, these are the FACTS.

3 Points of Interest To Our Present and Future Customers

1 Ford Motor Company will continue production of the present Ford Tractor without interruption, and Dearborn Motors Corporation will continue to market them nationally as in the past. By the end of 1952, Ford Motor Company has agreed to make two simple changes, and only two changes, in the means of operation and control of a pump used in the hydraulic system in the Ford Tractor. After these simple changes have been made, there is nothing in the settlement of the suit to prevent Ford Motor Company from continuing the manufacture of the present Ford Tractor for as long as it may choose.

2 Ford Motor Company will continue to produce and Dearborn Motors Corporation, and ourselves as dealer, will continue to supply all repair parts for all past, present and future Ford Tractors.

3 Ford Tractors will continue to offer all the advantages of the present system of hydraulic control, the present method of attaching and operating implements, and all other features responsible for their wide popularity. Dearborn Motors will continue to offer its same complete line of implements.

It is a source of deep satisfaction to us to be in a position to debunk conclusively and finally in this way the assertions that have been made and the propaganda that has been spread over the past four years.

Announcement!

We have just received a shipment of New Ford Tractors which are now ready for delivery.

Letters To The Editor

April 21, 1952

To the Editor,
Escanaba Press,
Dear Editor:

I wish to enter a mild protest against the title, "Million Dollars Raised by Two Young Gamblers To Buy Big Logging Firms," given by your esteemed paper to my article in your April 19th issue.

Webster's defines "gamble"—"To lose or squander by gaming"; the Encyclopedia Americana, as "the practice of playing for a money stake depending solely on chance."

If we had staked $500.00 on the turn of a card, or the spin of a roulette wheel, we would have been gamblers. If "A" bets $5000.00 on a 200 to 1 shot in a horse race he is gambling, and, note carefully, there is nothing he can do to help the horse win. He must sit back and let pure chance take over, and the chances are 200 to 1 that he will lose his $5000.

What were we doing? We were "venturing" $500,000 of our capital in a business proposition. Just as the farmer who plants a crop, or the merchant who goes into business, or the company that drills an oil well. They take risks of course, but they all work hard to make their "venture" good, unlike the gambler who does nothing but depend solely on chance.

The gambler is an excrescence, a cancer, who feeds on society and gives nothing in return. But "venture capital" has given us every material thing we possess.

Furthermore, George H. Orr would never have given an option on the company's properties to "Two Young Gamblers," The C. L. Co. had no use for gamblers, and wouldn't do business with them. And Mr. Orr would never have tied up the company's property for eight months unless he had known us pretty well, and been fairly sure the deal would go through.

It wasn't a very risky venture for us. We had studied the situation, were sure we could put the deal over, and knew just how we were going about it. We each subscribed for $50,000.00 of stock, and were in position to pay for it, and Messrs. Putnam, Hixson and Thomas had agreed to put in $115,000.00 in cash. We also knew the properties were worth twice the amount of the option. Mr. Orr knew it too, but the old crowd, (all over 70 years of age), wanted to clean up and not be bothered with details of liquidation.

The next three articles, which closes the story, will show the final outcome, and will, I think, convince anyone that we were not "gamblers".

Sincerely yours,
William S. Crowe.

Chicago Cubs Win Again; Minner Hurls Three-Hitter

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Manager Phil Cavarretta is mixing a "mick" for the contenders who expect to fatten up on his Chicago Cubs.

Nobody gave the Cubs a tumble in the pre-season picks. One brave soul gave them fifth place. But 93 of the 124 baseball writers stuck them in the cellar, a position they may yet merit.

"I know we won't finish last again," said manager Phil. Why not? The Cubs finished last three times in the past four years.

In the first week of the season the Cubs didn't go down to visit their old basement quarters once. With a 4-2 record they're traipsing along in a second-place tie with Cincinnati—all of people.

The Brooklyn Dodgers surplus, gleefully unloaded on the Cubs in the past few years, is doing a big share of the job. Paul Minner, Turk Lown, Bob Ramazzotti, Toby Atwell and the rest.

Minner threw a three-hitter at Pittsburgh last night for a 7-1 victory while the Cubs racked up rookie Ronnie Kline and three successors. One of the hits off Minner was Jack Merson's second homer of the season.

Gladstone Lions To Honor 'Coach Of Year' Watson

GLADSTONE—C. C. Watson, 1952 Upper Peninsula coach of the year, will be honored at the 15th annual Lions Club basketball recognition banquet here Thursday night.

Watson, mentor of the Ishpeming Hematites who captured the Upper Peninsula Class B title this year, will be presented with a trophy by Karl Parker, who was "coach of the year" last year at the helm of the Brimley Bays. This will be the third annual coach of the year award by the Lions Club. First to be so honored was Gladstone's Eldon Keil.

Coach Keil will award letters to the Gladstone varsity cagers at the dinner which will be held at 7 at Gladstone High School.

Watson was selected coach of the year at the Spring meeting of the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association at Sault Ste. Marie last month. Members of the Association have been invited to the banquet.

Watson, tabbed the "Old Fox" in U. P. coaching circles, has been at Ishpeming for 29 years. During that time the Hematites have won 15 district championships, eight U. P. titles and one state crown. In addition, he has led Ishpeming downstate four times, losing in the quarterfinal round in 1927, and in the semi-finals in 1949 and 1952. The state title came in 1950.

His won-loss record is amazing. In 29 seasons his Hematites have copped 354 victories against 144 defeats. Longest win streak posted by Ishpeming was 43, coming in the mid-30s.

In the past three years Ishpeming has won 46 out of 49 starts and has defeated 30 consecutive opponents on its home floor since Jan. 14, 1949.

Gladstone Booster Teams Take Lead In Keg Tournament

GLADSTONE — A pair of home teams crashed through with top pin marks in the booster division of the Upper Peninsula Bowling Association keg tourney here last night.

Bunno and Sebeck caved in a 2535 count for first place among the booster teams. The Bosch Beers of this city notched a 2513 score for second place in the same class. There were no other changes among the top five leaders in any division.

Bowling continues tonight and the remainder of the week in the tournament. Gladstone, Escanaba and Niagara keggers roll tonight in doubles, singles and team events.

Ilex Rotundifolia Gives Atlanta Homer Headaches

ATLANTA—(AP)—From a seat in the grandstand of Ponce de Leon park—playing field of the Atlanta Crackers—your eye catches on a line of Ilex rotundifolia.

Ilex rotundifolia isn't an eye disease. But a lot of fans think it is a serious baseball disease.

In Atlanta it causes home run rash and rhabarbar fever.

Whether Ilex rotundifolia spreads to other ball parks remains to be seen. It can be contagious with baseball clubs who want to promote more home park homers.

Kutches Will Play In North-South Prep Tilt

Pete Kutches, Escanaba's once in a lifetime athlete, who has walked a brilliant glory path at St. Joe high school, today received the highest honor a prep athlete in the United States can attain.

Kutches was notified this morning by long distance telephone from Murray, Ky., that he has been selected for a berth on the North squad which will play the South in the fourth annual national high school basketball classic at Murray College.

Selection to play in the North-

South game automatically places the St. Joe athletic great on the 1952 all-American high school basketball team.

First In State

Edd Kellow, chairman of the selections committee at Murray, informed Kutches that he is the first Michigan high school cager ever to be named to the squad. Nearly 2,000 high school cagers from every state in the country were screened for the final selections. There will be 12 players on the two teams.

Kutches accepted Kellow's invitation to compete in the game. He will leave Escanaba by plane for Murray on June 8. A week of practice is scheduled before the game which will be staged June 14.

All traveling expenses will be paid by the game's sponsors, the Murray Chamber of Commerce, and Kutches will be housed in the College's dormitory. Appearance in the game does not endanger his eligibility in college athletics, Kellow assured Kutches.

The North-South classic is attended by college coaches from all over the country and most of its "graduates" are currently college stars.

Record Scorer

The St. Joe star is the highest basketball scorer in the history of the Upper Peninsula. He concluded the recent season with a total of 588 points in 20 games, an average of 29.4 per outing. His total and average are both all-time records.

He was named to both the Detroit Free Press and the Detroit News all-state cager teams, made the all-class all-U. P. team and was named by the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association the "player of the year" for 1952.

Fr. Stephen Schneider, St. Joe athletic director, paid Kutches the highest honor in the history of Trojan sports when he permanently retired Kutches' No. 33 basketball uniform at the close of the season.

Martenson's 642 Tops In City Keg Tourney

Ed Martenson's 642 series blast leads the singles division of the 12th annual Escanaba City Association bowling tournament at the 10-day mark.

Tops in the five-man team division is the Jensen & Jensen team which captured the Major League championship recently. Milt Lueneburg and Lyle Smith pace the doubles parade with 1,249.

Jim O'Donnell trails Martenson in the singles with a hefty 630 count.

The tourney at the Arcade will continue through May 6.

Thirteen Starters Seen In Kentucky Derby May 3

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Thirteen horses were counted today as probable starters for this year's Kentucky Derby.

The historic race, 11 days away, was developing into a wide open affair.

This uncertainty may result in a starting field of more than the "baker's dozen" when the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" call the horses to the post.

Early Candidates

Here they are, and there'll likely be more:

Sub Fleet, Happy Go Lucky, Master Fiddle, County Flame, Cousin, Hannibal, Pintor, Blue Man, Arroz, Hill Gail, Cold Command, Gushing Oil and Smoke Screen.

The superstitious eyed that "13" figure with some misgiving. For the Derby jinx, in the form of training injuries or illness, was taking its toll.

Just yesterday, Tom Fool, Pri-

East's candidates, were declared out.

But this, somewhat paradoxically, may mean more entries for the $100,000 added classic that'll be run at Churchill Downs Saturday, May 3, for the 78th time.

Others Take Hope

For when a top-flight horse, like Tom Fool, say, is withdrawn, other prospects' chances are reviewed. And, where before a nominee might have been considered doubtful, he's made a starter.

Last year's Derby, won by Count Turf, had 20 starters, the most since 1937, when War Admiral was the winner. Middleground beat 13 others in 1950. Ponder did the same in 1949.

Trainer John Gaver decided Tom Fool is "too valuable" to risk shipment for the Derby after the winner of $155,910 as a two-year-old developed a cough.

Injuries suffered in the Wood running put out the Stormont Stable's Primrose and Max Kahlbaum's Jampol.

High School Hurler Gets Second No-Hit, No-Run Game In Row

UTICA, Mich. — (AP) — Micki Schwarzkoff, 16-year-old right-hander, turned in his second no-hit, no-run performance in four days yesterday as his Utica teammates trounced Roseville-Eastland, 15-0, in a Bi-County league baseball game.

Schwarzkoff, a senior, struck out 18 Roseville-Eastland batters and walked only one. Last Thursday, against South Lake, he struck out 14.

A second no-hit, no-run performance was marked up by John Malone in hurling Van Dyke to a 6-0 win at East Detroit in a non-league affair.

At Bay City, Jerry Robb, 17-year-old junior at St. Mary High, struck out 20 of 22 batters in hurling his team to 16-0 no-hit win over Merrill Sacred Heart. Robb walked one batter and got another out on an infield grounder. He pitched four no-hitters last year.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting: Don Mueller, Giants—drove home four runs with homer, triple and single in New York's 10-4 win over Phillies.

Pitching: Paul Minner, Cubs—set down Pirates with three hits in 7-1 victory.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Welter-weight Chuck Davey's inability to go through with a scheduled fight at Syracuse Thursday will not make him ineligible to meet Chico Vejar May 7 at Chicago Stadium.

It took most of yesterday afternoon for the Illinois State Athletic Commission to decide this.

Davey, undefeated in 32 fights, suffered two eye gashes in training last week. His manager, Hector Knowles, said 10 stitches were needed to close the wounds and that Davey would be unable to meet Carmen Basilio at Syracuse Thursday.

The New York State Athletic Commission, which has a reciprocal agreement with the IAC to concur in suspensions, warned Davey that he must fight Basilio or be suspended.

After checking on contracts signed by Davey, Chairman Joe Triner of the IAC said that Davey officially had signed on March 28 to face Vejar, the unbeaten New York U. student, while he had signed April 7 to box Basilio.

Triner deemed it proper to recognize the May 7 bout with Vejar as having precedence but emphasized that Davey must go through with his bout at Syracuse within 30 days of the Vejar match and cannot fight anybody else in the meantime.

Davey, son of a Detroit policeman and holder of a master's degree from Michigan State, jumped into contention for the welter-weight title by scoring a technical knockout over former lightweight champion Ike Williams in Chicago Stadium March 26.

If the outfielder pulls down the ball right over the hedge—which has happened a couple of times already this young Southern Association season—then umpires have to come up with a fast ruling.

Umpire decisions rest on such flimsy things as whether the outfielder had one, two or none — his feet on the ground at the time of the catch; where, if any, his feet were located when the catch was made, and if he had no feet on the ground, just how was the outfielder's body leaning when the ball smacked into his glove.

Nine Already

For instance, he licks a homer if the outfielder catches the ball while in the air with no feet on the ground in the general region past the hedge.

Already one Atlanta-Chattanooga game is under protest because of a ball hit in the vicinity of the hedge. Other protested games are certain to follow.

The hedge varies from 333 to 380 feet from home plate. Last season before the hedge was installed only four homers were hit into the left field stands.

Bubba Church Not Ready To Go Yet

PHILADELPHIA — (AP)—Pitcher Bubba Church, who won 15 games for the second division Philadelphia Phillies last year, hasn't appeared in a game this season.

Manager Eddie Sawyer last night denied that Church was in any kind of "doghouse" and said that the young righthander, rated number two on the Phillies staff behind Robin Roberts at the beginning of spring training, was not yet in shape.

Church has refused to talk about the subject except to say that it was up to the manager when he would pitch.

Church had a 15-11 record last year. Twice during training this season he was relieved in exhibition games after losing big leads. He missed five days of training due to the illness of his mother.

Tigers Not Headed For New Record, Rolfe Says

CHICAGO — (AP) — Red Rolfe doesn't think his Detroit Tigers are headed for a new and unenviable record for consecutive opening-season losses.

Yes, he knows what's wrong with his team, only one in the major leagues that hasn't won a game this year.

And he's sending Teddy Gray (0-1) against former Tiger Saul Rogovin (0-0) today in hopes Detroit can get its first win in eight starts from the Chicago White Sox.

Rolfe knows the Tigers would have to lose six more games to reach the record of 13 for most opening-season losses in a row. The Tigers of 1920, incidentally, and the Washington Senators of 1904 hold that record.

And, says Red, "we'll get going when we get some long-ball hitting for our infield—in fact, some long ball hitting, period."

In their three losses to the St. Louis Browns and four to the Cleveland Indians, the Tigers have knocked out only 10 extra base hits to 20 for the opposition.

Outfielder Vic Wertz has only two hits, a homer and a double, in 25 trips. Third baseman George Kell, always a Tiger hitting main-

Michigan Tops Notre Dame 3-0

ANN ARBOR — (AP) — Jack Corbett overcame a bases-loaded ninth inning to pitch University of Michigan to a 3-0 shutout win over Notre Dame yesterday.

With two men out in the last frame, Corbett gave up two singles and a walk. But he bore down and struck out pinch hitter Dick Gaberik to end the game.

Corbett gave up five hits in chalking up his third straight shutout this year. Meanwhile the Wolverines collected eight hits, paced by two run-scoring singles by centerfielder Bill Billings.

Billings singled home the first Michigan run in the first, after shortstop Bruce Maynam got on base by an error.

In the seventh the Wolverines added two more. Maynam had walked and first baseman Bill Mogk reached first when interference was called against the Notre Dame catcher for tipping the bat with his glove.

Billings then singled home Maynam and Mogk scored on a long fly by Don Eaddy. Notre Dame 000 000 00—0 5 4 Michigan 100 000 20—3 8 2 Reynolds and Farrell; Corbett and Leach.

Coleman Top Hitter, Fain Way On Bottom

NEW YORK — (AP) — Figures never lie but statistical-minded fans must have wondered as they scanned the American league batting averages yesterday. And who could blame them?

What name do you think headed the list of hitters? George Kell? Ted Williams? Larry Doby? Ferris Fain? No, sir! It was none other than Gerry Coleman of the New York Yankees.

Coleman, who swatted a robust .249 and placed exactly 104th last year, was leading the pack with a .556 mark.

Champ Last And what name was on the bottom of the list of about 200 hitters? Some wild swinging pitcher? Or some nervous, rookie reserve infielder? Not at all. Last on the list was none other than last year's batting king, Ferris Fain of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Coleman, who never has hit 300 in his big league career, had collected 10 hits in 18 times at bat, hitting safely in each of his first five games. Fain, who hit .344 in 1951, was batting exactly .000. The fancy-fielding first baseman had gone to bat 21 times without making a single safety.

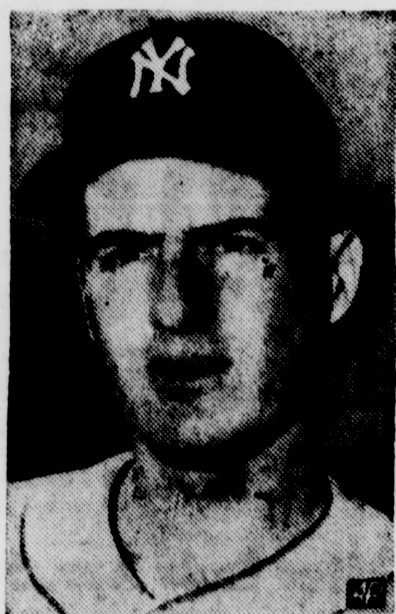

The same question was put to Coleman and Fain but with a different approach.

"How do you account for your super hitting this spring? Coleman was asked.

Just Lucky "I've been lucky," the modest Coleman replied. "I'm just hitting them where they ain't. I'm swinging the same way and I'm using the same bat. The balls are just falling in."

Ferris Fain

GERRY COLEMAN

The question was put a little more tactfully to Fain.

"How do you account for your failure to get started?" Fain was asked.

"I've been gosh-darned unlucky," the cocky Fain growled. "I'm just hitting them where they are. I'm swinging the same way and I'm using the same bat. The balls are just going right at the fielders."

"I don't feel too badly, though. It's better than not being able to hit the ball at all. Sooner or later they're bound to fall safely. The breaks usually even up, you know."

All this took place before the Yankee-Athletics game. How did Coleman and Fain fare during the game, you ask? Just as you might suspect. Coleman failed to get a hit in four times at bat. Fain also was at bat four times. He collected two hits and drew two walks for a perfect day.

stay, has a measly .192 average so far.

Infield Problem

Rolfe sees Detroit's lack of infield power as the long-term problem, to be solved only through a trade or some drastic experimenting with the lineup.

He's still thinking about switching Wertz to first base to help out the infield batting situation. Wertz led Detroit in home runs last year with 27. But last season the whole Tiger infield hit only 23 homers to 74 for Cleveland, 49 for Boston, 42 for Philadelphia and 29 for New York.

The team also has felt the loss of Hoot Evers, who'll be out for three or four weeks with a broken finger suffered just before the season opened.

Dim Trade Chances

Chances of a trade are dim. General Manager Charlie Gehringer isn't anxious to get the best possibility, Boston Red Sox infielder Johnny Pesky. Gehringer feels Pesky is too old and that "if we keep losing we'll rebuild with youth."

Meanwhile, Rolfe is hoping his batters will get behind the pitching corps—Art Houtteman, Virgil Trucks, and Gray—that he still thinks can pull the Tigers from their fifth spot last year into the first division.

After all, he points out, the Tigers are the only team in the majors that has never finished in the cellar. He doesn't think it will be any different this year.

Marciano Posts Early Knockout

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — (AP) — Rugged Rocky Marciano knocked out squat Gino Buonvino of Italy with a looping right to the jaw in 1:35 of the second round last night to run his undefeated string to 40 bouts and 33 kay-oes.

The Brockton, Mass., belter showed his best form since beating Joe Louis.

Buonvino, who at 196½ had a seven pound edge over Marciano, hurt Rocky with a looping right to the jaw in 1:35 of the second round last night to run his undefeated string to 40 bouts and 33 kay-oes.

But Marciano, who had started the blood flowing from the Italian's nose in the first round, set Buonvino up with a left to the body before landing the clincher.

The crowd of 4,592 was far below expectations. The gross gate totaled $12,142.

In Boston, two other heavyweights who hope to clash with Marciano—Irish Bob Murphy and Coley Wallace—punched out victories last night.

Murphy, the ex-sailor who now call Boston his home port, out-slugged Reuben Jones of Richmond, Va., for a 10-round unanimous decision.

In the co-featured 10-rounder, Wallace took an unanimous verdict from giant Sandy McPherson, Tulsa, Okla.

Wallace gave away 32 pounds to McPherson who scaled 281.

Four Red Wings On NHL All-Star Team

MONTREAL — (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings, who completely dominated the 1952 Stanley Cup playoffs, today showed just as complete domination of the 1952 National Hockey League All-Star team.

The Wings won eight straight playoff games, an all-time record, after finishing the regular season far ahead of the rest of the league. They won four of the six places on the first All-Star team, three of them by unanimous votes. The runner-up Montreal Canadiens took the other two places.

The four Red Wings on this year's team are the same four who made it a year ago: Goalie Terry Sawchuck, defenseman Leonard Patrick "Red" Kelly, right wing Gordie Howe and left wing Ted Lindsay. Completing the first team are center Elmer Lach and defenseman Doug Harvey of the Canadiens.

The team was picked by a committee of 18 hockey writers and broadcasters, three from each of the six league cities. Five points were awarded for each first place vote, three for second and one for third.

Kelly, for the second straight year, polled a maximum of 90 points. Sawchuck and Howe also were unanimous choices. Lindsay drew 80 points, Lach 72 and Harvey 71.

Second Team

The second team is composed of Jim Henry, Boston (23), goal; Hy Buller, New York Rangers (47) and Jim Thompson, Toronto (38) defense; Milt Schmidt, Boston (40), center; Maurice Richard, Canadiens (42), and Sid Smith, Toronto (45), Wings.

Each member of the first All-Star team will receive $1,000 from the National Hockey League and each player making the second team will get $500.

Harvey is the only newcomer to the All-Star lineup, making it after five years in the league. Lindsay was named for the fourth time, the third in a row; Lach for the third time and Kelly, Howe and Sawchuck for the second. Sawchuck has played only two seasons in the NHL. Lach, oldest member of the team and a pro since 1940, was on the 1944-45 and 1947-48 first All-Star teams.

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — A young Texan, Jack Kibbee, celebrating his 26th birthday yesterday, rolled the second highest series in the history of the American Bowling Congress tournament five-man team event by crashing 744.

The Ft. Worth kegler, competing in his first ABC tourney and carrying a 187 average, leveled seven strikes in his first game for 234, eight in his second for 244, and came back with nine in the third game for 266. He started his final game with seven in a row.

The record of 768 is held by Milwaukee's F. Weber, and was rolled at Peoria in the 1934 tourney.

Kibbee carried his Topsy Cafe Red Star mates to games of 924, 1,007 and 985 for 2,916, just out of the top ten.

Kibbee, who throws a semi-roundhouse, is an accountant. His previous high series was 685. He holds a high league game of 279.

Hank Marino of Milwaukee, bowler of the half century, held the fans' interest last night as he appeared with his Brunswick Mineralite team. Marino hit 582 on games of 177, 223 and 182. The Mineralites totaled 2,815, high for their squad but not worth a place among the leaders.

Some 1,000 delegates and directors will be on hand for the annual ABC convention Friday. Top item up for consideration will be selection of a site for the 1954 tournament, with Miami, Fla., Fort Worth, Buffalo, San Francisco, Oakland, Calif., and Seattle, Wash., being considered.

The Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League never have finished the season on top of their division or won a playoff championship.

What In The Work?

By L. EARLE DAVIDSON

ROME, Italy—The approach to St. Peter's and Vatican City is over the broad avenue called Via Della Conciliazione. At the end of this great, wide street is the Piazza of St. Peter's, where as many as 300,000 persons have stood at one time to receive the Pope's benediction.

The Piazza is a huge, round open space, covering several acres, all of which is paved. Automobile traffic approaching the Piazza moves to the right and goes around until it enters Via Della Conciliazione.

St. Peter's, one of the most imposing structures ever conceived by the mind of man, forms a huge backdrop for the Piazza. In front of St. Peter's, and in the center of the huge, round open space, is a tall obelisk which was brought to Rome in 1586 on a raft from Egypt. The bronze cross at the top of the obelisk contains a piece of the Cross of Calvary.

Upon This Rock — Once inside St. Peter's you are struck immediately by its size. It is the world's largest church. Under a canopy at one end of the church is the tomb of St. Peter. Around the base of the 40-story high dome of St. Peter's, in letters six-feet high, are the words Jesus Christ spoke to St. Peter: "Thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build my Church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

In the Sistine Chapel are the famous works of Michelangelo—"The Creation," "The Fall of Man," "The Deluge," and "The Last Judgment."

We Meet His Holiness—Just to the right of St. Peter's, in a building four or five stories high, is where His Holiness Pope Pius XI and his staff work and receive guests from all over the world. At the entrance to this building you are at once met by the famous Swiss Guards in their striped, knee-pant uniforms of gold and blue. They are the custodians of Vatican City and protectors of the Pope. We found them to be an extremely friendly group of men. They are the custodians of Vatican City and protectors of the Pope. We found them to be an extremely friendly group of men. They showed us the way to the giant staircases up which we climbed to reach the floor on which the throne room is located.

Ours was a special audience. By that I mean we were meeting His Holiness as newspaper editor rather than pilgrims. Although there were several among us who espoused the Catholic faith, the majority was, like myself, non-Catholic.

Before the Pope entered the room, all of us were wondering what we should do and how we should act in the presence of so great a religious personality. Even the Catholics among us weren't sure of the procedure. Finally, one of the pontiff's assistants came into the room and set us straight. In a nutshell, he told us to just be ourselves, which was what most of us wanted to hear. He said that, when His Holiness entered the room, those who wished could bend down on one knee. And he said those among us who were Catholic could genuflect and kiss the Pope's ring, if they wished, when personally addressing him.

Then, all of a sudden, another assistant, dressed in a scarlet uniform, walked briskly into the room and, at the very center, dropped to one knee with arms outstretched. Clearly that was the signal that His Holiness was coming.

We were taken so by surprise that, all over the room, members of our party were unconsciously dropping to one knee, Catholic and non-Catholic alike. As the Pope entered the room he immediately gestured with his outstretched hands for everyone to rise. He was dressed in the snow-white habit in which he is so often pictured.

In America A Healthy Sign—Before talking with us individually, Pope Pius made a statement to all of us in which he said: "You come from a land where, one hears, public opinion wields no inconsiderable power. That can be a healthy sign for any nation, where there is an enlightened public opinion; but the problem is to make sure that public opinion is enlightened, is informed and formulated in the light of truth and justice and, let us add, Christian charity."

The head of the Catholic Church then reminded us of the responsibility to the community that rests on all members of our profession. In fulfilling that responsibility, he asked us to make a sincere and careful search for the truth in order that the people might render judgment based upon facts rather than propaganda.

The pontiff then moved about the room shaking hands and chatting individually with each of us. He speaks very good English and has a pleasant friendly personality. He smiles constantly as he talked with us. He wanted to know where we were from and something about our communities. Some of us had brought rosaries for our friends and he placed his hands over them and blessed them. To each of us he gave a papal medal with his own likeness on one side and a papal insignia on the other.

A Great and Humble Man—While we were in the throne room of the far-flung Catholic Church, exchanging pleasantries with the head of that Church, all thoughts of religious differences were entirely forgotten. Each of us knew that we were in the presence of a very great man, and his greatness grew as with warm humility and humbleness he spent that brief hour among us.

Another Dam Mouth to Feed

Take a good look at that tunnel mouth in Garrison Dam, North Dakota. The Soo Line has to feed it, and seven others, thousands of tons of concrete required for lining. For each of these tunnels is approximately 1,200 feet long and they vary between 22 and 29 feet in diameter.

That's a lot of concrete! But it's just a small part of Garrison Dam—210 feet high, 12,000 feet long, 2,600 feet wide at the base and requiring 1,500,000 cubic yards of concrete. Vast project, yes! But the Soo Line is up to the job—with a fleet of work-hungry giant diesel locomotives and a take-anything right-of-way leading straight to Riverdale Junction—just 14 miles from Garrison Dam.
